Working and playing in the world of video games

Many teenagers spend several hours each day playing video games, which worries their parents. But do you know that you can earn money playing video games? 1 ____ Sounds interesting? Find out how to do it!

One interesting place for gamers is Roblox. 2 ____ Then, they can upload them for others to play. A perfect example of a successful Roblox user is eighteen-year-old Alex Balfanz. He created two popular games, and he uses the money he makes to pay for university where he's studying computer science. His success was possible because Roblox offered a place where he could develop and distribute his games.

As weird as it may sound, people can also make money showing videos of themselves playing games on the Internet. Twitch is a perfect example of this. It is an online site where users can watch other people playing games, either live or recorded, and it is now one of the most popular websites on the Internet. Twitch users can make money in different ways. 3 ____ But they can also make money from adverts.

Another way people make money through video games is by being professional gamers. Many of them are young people, and they compete in international competitions. 4 ____ However, in the end, they decided not to. A shame, isn't it?

- A In fact, video sports games are so popular that the Olympic committee considered including them in the Olympics.
- B It is a platform where children can learn to code, design and build their own games.
- C One possibility is to get donations from viewers.
- D It's possible to make a lot of money on this site.
- E What's more, you can also make money creating new games.
